

For more than twenty years, Aaron has served as a facilitator, coach, leadership developer, and organizational consultant.

Aaron helps leaders better understand themselves and the people they lead. The result is stronger relationships, healthier teams, and leaders who show up with greater confidence, authenticity, and impact.

His facilitation style combines curiosity, empathy, humor, and accountability, equipping clients with practical tools and strategies they can immediately apply to create lasting change and meaningful results.

Additional Expertise:

- Holds certifications in Life Coaching, Internal Family Systems (IFS), Mindfulness Coaching, and Effective Facilitator (Leadership Strategies)
- Has coached and developed leaders through leadership development programs, performance coaching, facilitation, and organizational consulting initiatives
- Founded and facilitates The Untethered, a men's development community focused on self-awareness, accountability, relationships, and personal growth
- Education: MA Counseling, Trinity International University

“The more deeply you know yourself, the less your leadership is about you.”

You can reach Aaron Salentine at asalentine@livingasaleader.com.